

TelcoOptimiser

Are You Paying Money You Don't Owe?

Companies do just that every month. 85% of companies simply pay their telecom bills every month without checking, yet up to 12% of telecom service charges are incorrect. With issues including overprovision, errors in billing, inappropriate contracts and contract rates, can you afford to let this continue?

TeleConsultants answer is TelcoOptimiser, an outsource service that takes away the aggravation and complexity of managing your voice, data and mobile network services, and gets the most value out of your investment.

Take advantage of us

TeleConsultants provides the expertise needed to deliver this service effectively, including:

- An in-depth understanding of telco billing systems and contracts
- Experience in matching a business' requirements with telco services
- Knowledge of the business solutions in the market that we will share with you.

Not only do we address your billing, TelcoOptimiser gives you access to experts who liaise with your supplier, resolve minor issues and provide insight into the business applications of telecommunications WHEN YOU NEED IT.

Take More Advantage

Because we are serious about TelcoOptimiser we undertake a basic review of your telco situation BEFORE we do anything like presenting a contract.

We won't ask for your business unless we are both assured that there are savings to be made.

Making Savings

We start our work with an audit of your voice, data and mobile services. You then get an in-depth report that gives you visibility and clarity on what you have, what you use and what you pay for.

With this report, we will identify your current total spend, agree with you the immediate cost savings (typically up to 12% of total spend) and liaise with your suppliers to ensure these savings are realised.

Making Life Easier

Then each month, we provide you with:

- Monthly Management Reports - Clear, easy to understand analysis of your monthly bills. You benefit from our expertise in extracting and interpreting key information and trends from billing and reports.
- Stability - We take responsibility for liaising with your ever-changing telcos. You don't have to have to face constant changing of account managers.
- Ongoing Savings - we achieve continuing and sustainable reductions through:
 - Usage and demand management
 - Contract support
 - Visibility of service changes
 - Bill validation

In addition, every six months we meet with you to discuss progress and any market trends that may affect your business.

Finally

Managing telco billing in-house takes time and resource that is then not available to address core business issues.

By using OUR experience and expertise you can improve your telecommunications expense management - and free up your staff so THEIR experience and expertise can benefit your business.

Bottom Line

TelcoOptimiser is an easy to engage 12 month subscription service. It comfortably pays for itself both in terms of reducing direct costs (savings due to accurate billing and appropriate services) and in terms of improved administration and management.
